JANEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4.

A GOOD ARTIST IN A POOR CAUSE.

Matt Morgan, the artist, whose death occurred yesterday at his residence in New York, was one of the many men who have been made famous not by the work to which they have devoted their ambition and their best energies, but by the public approval of achievements to which they had given little thought.

When he came to this country from England about twenty-three years ago, his profession was that of a scene painter, and he was, in things considered, one of the best if not the best of that time spent in America. But he was too early for the profitable practice of his profession. It was before the days when the public taste had been cultivated by scenic revivals to demand or to appreciate the best work in that line. When he had accomplished the particular task for which he had been brought over, he had to either adopt a new field of exertion or return to England. As he liked this country, he chose the former course. Frank Leslie, who was looking about for a caricaturist to enable the Leslie publications to compete with Harper's Weekly, which was owned by a man and money worth the rest of New York, who was then at the height of his fame, hit upon the idea of retaining Morgan in that capacity, and made an offer to Morgan which the latter accepted.—Wisconsin.

There is something unfortunate in the career of Matt Morgan. He was an artist of considerable ability, and strong personal character, but he fell in with the bad side of American politics. When the Greeley movement began in 1872 to defeat General Grant, the democratic Greeley leaders wanted an artist to match Thomas Nast as a caricaturist, and so they hired Mr. Morgan, who was fresh from England, and placed him on the Frank Leslie. He was not acquainted with American politics neither with politicians. Some of his cartoons were simply murderous. They were vile in the extreme, as for instance, in caricaturing General Grant as a drunkard. This thing went one week after week in all its disgusting features, until the election put an end to Matt Morgan's career as an artist. No man before or since who ran for the presidency suffered such a galling defeat as did Horace Greeley, and though Morgan was hired to crush Grant and extirpate Greeley, his cartoons had the contrary effect. They brought to an early death the democratic-liberal candidate and blighted the reputation of the artist.

THE OREGON ELECTION.

The democrats are claiming Oregon, which is not surprising. A dispatch from Portland giving account of the campaign says:

The campaign has been mainly fought on the tariff issue, the republicans supporting a protection on the basis of McKinley's bill, while the democrats have come out squarely on a free trade revenue platform. They also raised an issue upon the question of non-taxable bonds, based upon the fact that Governor Pennoyer has, during his administration, vetoed four bills exempting municipal bonds from taxation.

Let us see how this matter stands and thereby find out how much a victory the democrats have won in Oregon. In 1886 Pennoyer, the democrat was elected by a plurality of 3,702, the other state of officers and the legislature being republican.

In 1888, while the democratic national convention was being held in St. Louis, the democrats had made an arrangement to carry Oregon on the tariff issue. The democratic convention had itself primed. The cannon were ready, the speeches were prepared, the enthusiasm was in storage—all was in splendid order for celebrating a grand victory in Oregon. But the dispatches proved to be a soaking wet blanket on democratic enthusiasm, and when the returns came in it was found the tariff issue had given the republicans thirty majority in the legislature on joint ballot and nearly 8,000 majority on congressmen.

So in the late election, while Pennoyer was elected governor on the special issue named in the dispatch, the congressman and the legislature are republican—the direct result of the tariff issue. There is not much consolation in this result for our democratic friends.

There is a good deal of foolishness in many of the questions which the census enumerators are compelled to ask in their official work. Questions which have no sort of value to any person living or dead, and even have no curiosity in them, are asked by the score which tend to delay and complicate matters very much. Many of the questions and much of the writing demanded are nothing less than ridiculous. It is said there are 145 questions which must be put regarding agricultural statistics. In taking the census of a family some of the questions pertaining to age, nationality, relationship, and so on, are beyond all reason. For instances, if the age of a child is given at two years, it must be expressly stated in writing whether that child is married or single. Such statistics as these are of no earthly value. They can do no good. They delay the work of completing the census. The entire work of enumerators must be finished in fourteen days from the second of June, and already some enumerators have spent as much as two hours in taking the census of one farmer, his family and his farm. The fact that not more than half of the stuff collected for the census of 1880 was used, an illustration of the uselessness of the present method of gathering statistics of population.

A dispatch from Washington reports an interview with S. Norton Spooner on the recent Auditorium conference in Chicago between him, Governor Hoard, and Mr. Payne, in regard to which he says: "No; I may as well take the trouble to deny that squarely. I did not go to Chicago in consequence of anything of the kind. I can only say that I have done what I have done for the success of the republican party in Wisconsin in the right, as I believe it will be right. From a majority of 22,000 two years ago to a position where our enemies can claim that the state is in the doubtful column is a serious change. We can only declare for what we believe is the true and right cause on the Bennett law and then go ahead. The people will make no mistake and we can trust that our German Lutheran friends will take a just view of the situation, accept the pledges of amendment and stand with us."

The difference in principle between the Bennett law and the Koerner substitute is simply this: The Bennett law seeks no interference with or secular control over the parochial schools, but insists on the rudiments of the English language. The Koerner substitute provides a certain degree of state authority over parochial schools, but without the rudiments of English. That is to say, the parochial school would be subject to state authority over the parochial schools.

The Bennett law advocates do not ask for, although as a matter of statistical record and information as to the educational progress of the country, such reports of parochial schools voluntarily made would no doubt be valuable and interesting.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

To be sure it is the English part of the Bennett law that the Lutherans and German Catholics do not like. This was clearly shown when attempt was made to Milwauke last spring to harmonize the Lutherans and republicans on the municipal campaign. The Lutherans would support the republicans if the latter would recommend that the teaching of English be struck from the educational law. The Lutherans, it would reasonably seem from this, are as much opposed to the English language as the confederates were to the American flag.

Let New York confess that she is not at all willing to maintain her pledged honor, and then it will be time for the government to take hold of the matter. Remove the body to Washington, out of the way of the speculators, and there a monument will be erected at the expense of the country, as it should have been long ago.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

New York has already confessed, by its refusal to do anything, that it cannot redeem its pledge. Therefore something should be done to honor the resting place of General Grant. The monument should be built at Riverside, or the remains taken to Washington where a fitting mortuary temple will be built.

The State Journal is now under its new editorial management, and in several respects has been much improved. It is hoped that the journal will have many years of large prosperity. The enterprise now displayed in the effort to make a lively republican journal and an interesting newspaper, deserves the best of success.

Mr. Koerner is correct in saying that Captain Thummie wrote a strong letter to him denouncing the educational law, then the secretary should be in Milwaukee on the 4th of June, and not in Dakota. When there is any fighting to do, it is always best to remain on the battle field.

GANDER AND RAT.

Summary Revenge for the Death of a Gander.

A goose on the Lingle farm hatched out a fine family of goslings last week, says a letter in the New York Sun. She and her mate, an imported gander, have been assiduous in their attentions to the downy, little yellow things, but in spite of that a big Norway rat, hordes of whom kind infest the outbuildings on the farm, was smart enough to elude the watchful eyes of the old goose and gander, and a day or so ago captured one of the goslings and dragged it to his lair under the barn. A few feet from the barn is a low horse-trough, which is kept constantly filled with water. There is a hole three inches in circumference under the foundation of the barn which is a runway for rats, and it was into this that the rat dragged the gosling.

The two old geese indulged in noisy lamentations for some time over the loss of their little one, and than an idea seemed to strike the gander. He and his mate held a sort of confab in subdued tones, and then they both became quiet. The gander waddled up to the rat hole under the foundation of the barn and took a position at one side of it. He stood there motionless and patient with his eye fixed on the hole. He had stood ten minutes or more when the head of a rat was poked out as far as the shoulders. Quick as a flash the gander hurled its head against the rat's and its strong bill closed over its neck. The rat squealed and struggled but couldn't get away. The mother goose set up a vociferous and triumphant squawking and the gander waddled as fast as he could to the horse-trough. He showed the rat under the water and held him there until he was drowned.

Then the gander threw the carcass on the ground and the old geese picked and tore it until scattered in bits about the barn-yard.

Mrs. Conklin escaped with the baby. The boys, aged 9 and 5 years, were drowned.

MADE A PERILOUS TRIP.

Mrs. Mary Conklin Saves Herself and Babe But Loses Two Boys.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 4.—Mrs. Mary Conklin, residing in the vicinity of Brentwood, Ark., attempted to cross the White river on a horse with her 10-months-old babe in her lap and her two boys behind.

When in the center of the stream the saddle turned, throwing the woman and the children into the water.

Mrs. Conklin escaped with the baby.

The boys, aged 9 and 5 years, were drowned.

PERILOUS WORK OF MINERS.

ASHLAND, Pa., June 4.—The fire in the East colliery mine has been reached through the shafts, but the extent of it is yet unknown. The gang of workmen engaged in sinking the shaft were overcome by the gas last night and John Haffey and Charles O'Boyle had to be carried from the mine. O'Boyle fell across the track and would have been crushed by an approaching "runboat" but for the timely arrival of assistance. Efforts are being made to remove the gas to avert an explosion.

HE WENT UP THE FLAME.

DEDHAM, Mass., June 4.—Little John Kane, aged 4 years, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. He fell into Merchant's mill pond and was swept the whole length of the covered flame—150 feet—in a raging torrent six feet deep. He was taken out of the rack near the mill unconscious, but was soon resuscitated.

Killed by Lightning.

The Lightning Strikes a Powder House at Mansfield and a Terrible Explosion Follows.

A NEBRASKA TOWN SWEEP AWAY BY THE WIND.

The Village of Bradshaw Said to Have Been Destroyed—Several People Killed—Other Storms.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 4.—Meager reports from Bradshaw, a hamlet of some four or five hundred inhabitants about five miles west of Lincoln, state that the town was swept away about 10 persons were reported killed and twenty or more injured. Telegraph wires are down and no particulars have been learned.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 4.—A storm burst with terrible fury over western Iowa last night. The rain fell in torrents, the wind in some localities reached the force of a tornado, and the electric display was dazzlingly brilliant and awe inspiring. The greatest damage seems to have been done at Glenwood.

The State Institute for Feeble Minded is located there and was a heavy sufferer. The hotel house and laundry were demolished, the tall chimney was blown down and caused cracking through the roof into the dormitories where the inmates were sleeping, killing six others.

WILLIE CLINE, of Clark county, Wesley EMERY, of Monroe county. The injured are:

JOHN SWALLO, Dubuque.
WILLIE BRATHER, Wayne county.
FRANCIS COOPER, Fort Dodge.
EDDIE SWEET, Linn county.
HENRY SNYDER, Benton county.
SAM ASKINS, Compton Bluffs.

Several of the injured are not expected to recover. The flour mill at Glenwood was wrecked and the canning factory demolished. It was the worst storm in the history of the city. At Atlantic a wind blew down the amphitheater at the fair grounds, and several small dwellings in the town. A great many fruit and shade trees were blown down in the city, and a number of bridges on the Niobrara were washed out. Three buildings were blown down from their foundations at Elvira and several persons had narrow escapes. At Council Bluffs' cellars were flooded and culverts washed out. The contiguous country is inundated and crops in general are badly damaged and some cast destroyed. The rain about Des Moines was very heavy, but no great damage was done.

DURTRIDGE, Iowa, June 4.—One of the most violent storms that has visited this section for years passed over Durtridge last night. The rainfall amounted almost to a flood. The Burlington & Northern track between this city and Galena was washed away for a distance of over two miles. A double-header freight belonging to the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City railroad, which operates over the Northern between Dubuque and Galena Junction, ran into a wash-out near Menomonie at 2 o'clock this morning. The freight car ran over the ditch, but the second went down, driving deep into the mud. The freight cars telescoped each other. The engineer of the second engine miraculously escaped, but the fireman, E. B. Dale received mortal injuries and died fifteen minutes. Brakeman Williams also received injuries from which he will die. Forty cars were run over in the wreck. The storm was so severe and the lightning so incessant that the engineer could not see the signal of the track walker he flagged the train.

AN OHIO CITY SHAKEN UP.

Lightning Strikes a Powder House, Causing a Frightful Explosion.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, June 4.—During a thunder storm lightning struck a powder house near home owned by Tracy & Avery, which contained over 5,000 pounds of powder. A terrific explosion followed that was felt distinctly in all parts of the city. Hundreds of people were soon at the scene. Not a vestige of the little building was left, but a swath of destruction and desolation had been swept every direction. Just across the road was the dwelling of Henry Root, in which at the time were his wife and their children. The house was blown to atoms. One of the children, 15 months old, was pulled out and hurled thirty feet away lifeless. Another, 4 years old, was so badly injured he will die, and the mother is yet unconscious from injuries that will likely prove fatal.

TWO TOWNS DESTROYED.

Terrible Work of a Cyclone in Indiana Monday Night.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 4.—Menger reports have reached here that a terrible cyclone swept through the State Monday night in the vicinity of Huntingburg and Jasper. fierce storms of rain and half descended upon both towns, but no serious damage was done.

It is rumored that those towns have been almost totally wrecked and many persons have been killed and injured.

Telegraph and telephone wires are down and particulars can not be obtained.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 3.—There is no foundation for the rumors of disaster at Huntingburg and Jasper. fierce storms of rain and half descended upon both towns, but no serious damage was done.

AGAINST SUB-TREASURIES

SENATOR FARWELL SAYS THEY SHOULD BE ABOLISHED.

The Silver Bill Discussed in the Senate—Paddock's Food Adulteration Bill

WASHINGTON, June 4.—In the Senate the Silver bill was taken up and Mr. Pugh addressed the Senate. His speech was largely devoted to a criticism of the tariff. He contended that the majority that had voted him his vote to the votes of those who were in favor of free, unlimited, and compulsory coinage of gold and silver bullion.

Mr. Farwell addressed the Senate upon the same topic. He declared himself in full accord with the purposes of the bill, but said that he was in favor of going still further.

He moved that all the silver offered and not a stipulated sum as provided for in the bill; and he would coin it at its market value.

If the price of silver should advance to par with gold (as the friends of the bill claimed it would) then free coinage would come as a matter of course.

What objection could there be, he asked, to providing the dollar with a new and better worth of silver?

What difference would it make to anybody if a dollar were made intrinsically worth 100 cents?

The people could not have too much money. No people ever had too much. But in his judgment the bill would not accomplish its object.

Two other things were necessary.

The national bank system should be preserved as the treasury system abolished.

When these measures were adopted the people could get all the money they needed.

The issuing by the government under the pending bill of treasury notes, with silver bullion behind them as security, furnished a circulation that was abundant and safe, and could not be redundant and would not be

D. CONGER.

The heavy rain of last night and this morning prevented the directors of Oak Hill Cemetery Association visiting the grounds of the cemetery, and the visit was postponed until another day not named.

See the great tank drama, "The Sea Wolf," at the opera house to-night. 40,000 gallons of water used in this great production; finest scenes and mechanical effects ever produced in the city. Prices only 10, 20, and 30 cents.

Subscribe for the Gazette and Sentinel; both papers will be delivered by carrier, at the best new strawberry for general cultivation; second, $5 for the best display of strawberries grown by one exhibitor.

All special premiums must be competed for.

The citizens of Black River Falls will spare no pains on their part to make this our semi-annual meeting, a success. "The latch string is out," and it is believed by the officers of the society that we herein present an argument and proof that we shall do justice to the Wisconsin H. R. agricultural society.

Delegates from each local society must present a five minute paper on some question in the programme, or one of their own selection, and furnish the programme committee with title of subject in the forenoon of Thursday, June 26th.

The session of that meeting will be Thursday 10:30 o'clock a. m.; 1:30 and 7:30 p. m.; Friday 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

Good music will be furnished on call of the chair. At the close of Friday afternoon session a local horticultural society followed by a dance will be held in the evening.

The young ladies of the Congregational church will give a moonlight excursion on the Steamer Mayflower Wednesday evening. The boat will also go up at four o'clock and stop at Burr Springs. For the moonlight excursion it leaves at seven o'clock. All are invited. Round trip twenty-five cents.

The Caledonian Society will hold their regular meeting at their rooms on Thursday, June 5th, at two o'clock p. m.

A full attendance is desired, as important business will come before the meeting. A social and literary entertainment followed by a dance will be held in the evening.

Messrs. W. J. Potter, A. K. White, F. Herbanus and W. R. Bates, under the supervision of Mr. W. J. Lake, of the Milwaukee Sentinel, are making a thorough canvass of the city in the interest of the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Janesville Gazette. Both papers will be delivered by carriers for seventy-five cents a month. This gives the people of Janesville an opportunity to secure a local and a state paper at a reasonable price. Subscribe for the Sentinel and the Gazette who desire The Sentinel can secure it on the same terms. Hand your names to the gentlemen making the canvass, and the papers will be delivered every morning and evening.

The Beloit Free Press;—Mrs. Ella D. Adams keeps a flock of fine sheep on her farm near the city, and Saturday morning it was discovered that a dog or dogs had been preying on the flock with fearful effect. Three were killed outright; thirteen were so badly chewed and lacerated that they will die, and many others were mangled. Many of the worst hurt are mothers of young lambs. No one knows whose dogs committed the depredations. This is the first case of sheep slaying reported in a long time.

THE KING BOLT BROKE.

Senator A. P. Lovejoy has a small accident while driving last evening.

Mr. L. Mackay, of Elkhorn, is in the city to day on business.

Mr. L. B. Cutting, of St. Joseph, Mo., is visiting friends in this city.

Hon. Cyrus Miner is attending the state convention of Odd Fellows at Eau Claire.

John G. Sexe, formerly in the insurance and real estate business in this city, has removed his Chicago office from 91 Warren avenue to 79 Dearborn street, room 5, and has formed a partnership with J. G. L. Kline. Mr. Sexe will be glad to see all Janesville friends at any time at his real estate, investments and loan office, and suggests that any who intend investing in Chicago property can do so now to soon as property is steadily advancing in price.

Messrs. A. E. Bulson, Jr., representing Chas. H. Baker & Co., pharmacists and chemists, Chicago; E. D. Chapman, representing Metric Grande Co., Chicago; F. L. Gause, representing The Seale & Heath Co., manufacturers of standard pharmaceutical preparations; and Prof. R. B. Anderson, representing Molten Cod Liver Oil company are in attendance of the meeting of the State Eclectic Medical Association.

FRANKIE JONES' COMPANY.

Woman Against Woman at Lappin's Opera House Last Night.

played "Woman Against Woman," before a fair sized audience at Lappin's opera house. The play has its good points, but the female character is not one in which Master Jones could appear to advantage. The rest of the company all took their parts well, and the play seemed to give good satisfaction.

To-night the company will present "The Sea Wolf," in which there are a number of mechanical effects. One of the features is a tank of water containing 40,000 gallons.

The superior quality of Snow Ball Baking Powder is attested by the verdict of hundreds of consumers and by its rapidly increasing sale. Gua anted to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Beware of imitations. Made only by Bengal Coffee & Spice Mills, Chicago.
